Remembrance

The recurring theme this month is remembrance. All of us are aware it is 100 years since the Great War ended and it is most appropriate that numerous services and events in the City churches in November will commemorate the end of 'the war to end all wars'. In the special services section the commemorative services are listed, particularly on Armistice Day, Remembrance Sunday, 11 November. Then there are the services associated with All Saints' Day – Thursday 1 November and All Souls' Day – Friday 2 November, all of which are listed.

At All Hallows by the Tower, leading up to Armistice Day, there will be installed in the Mariners' Chapel a number of 'Tommies' — perspex silhouettes of soldiers as part of a national project which commemorates those who died in the First World War — 'There but not there'. Following the ceramic poppies of 2014 at the Tower of London, which represented the 888,246 British and Commonwealth Service men and women who lost their lives in the First World War, this 'Tommy' is a 10"/25cm high Perspex® figure of a World War One soldier. These may be purchased and delivered to one's home. Furthermore, it is possible to have the name of someone you wish to remember inscribed on the base of the statue. The profits from the sale of the Tommies will enable the following charities to be supported: The Royal Foundation, Walking With The Wounded, Combat Stress, Help for Heroes, The Commonwealth War Graves Foundation and Project Equinox: Housing Veterans. It is noteworthy that each of the Tommies and their commemorative packaging are made by veterans employed by Royal British Legion Industries. The City churches of St Botolph Bishopsgate, St Bride Fleet Street and St Lawrence Jewry are also participating in the 'There but not there' project. Much more about the project may be found at <http://therebutnotthere.org.uk/>

On Armistice Day itself, Sunday 11 November, at All Hallows by the Tower the Merchant Navy Association is organising the reading of every name commemorated on the striking Lutyens First World War Memorial on Tower Hill. The Memorial has inscribed on its panels names of the 36,083 members of the Merchant Navy and the Fishing Fleets in both World Wars who have no known grave but the sea. The reading of the 12,318 First World War names will start at 6am and continue until 7pm with a break for the Memorial Service from 10.30-12.30, and everyone is welcome to go along to listen. This event is particularly poignant since without the dedication of the members of the Merchant Navy and Fishing Fleets in both World Wars we could not have survived.

Then there are the concerts with programmes that reflect the theme of Remembrance. One of these will take place at St Mary le Bow on Sunday 11 November itself. It carries the title 'In Remembrance'. The programme is listed at the date entry in the pages below. On the following day, Monday 12 November at St Stephen Walbrook, the regular 'Choral Classics' will consist of music and readings on the theme "They shall grow not old". It should be noted that there are other concerts with the theme of Remembrance and these are listed.

Finally on Sunday 11 November bell ringing will take place across the City of London for Remembrance Sunday and especially at 12.30 pm to mark the 100th Anniversary of the end of the Great War
