A Commemoration, a Conversation, and lesser sung composers

'We will remember them' – those well-known words from the poem 'For the Fallen' by Laurence Binyon form the evocative title of a particularly significant concert to be held on Thursday 20 September at St Katharine Cree. The City Consort of Voices under their director Tim Crossley will present an evening of music to mark the centenary of the end of World War One. The programme includes Howells' stunning a capella setting of the Requiem and works by Parry, Elgar, Vaughan Williams, Willan, Rachmaninov, Dyson, Ravel, Holst and Gurney. Full details of this special commemorative concert are to be found at the date of the listing.

The Thursday Conversations at St Mary at Hill continue to provide a unique opportunity to hear guest speakers who help us to engage with important issues that have an impact on all our lives. Usually held on the first Thursday of the month, the evening starts at 6pm with a short service of Choral Evensong sung by Seraphim the St Mary-at-Hill Choir. The guest speaker on Thursday 6 September will be Nicola Williams, Service Complaints Ombudsman to the Armed Forces. Some details of her interesting career to date are given at the entry in the listings. The evening will conclude at about 7.30pm with a glass of wine and some friendly reflection.

As always organ recitals feature strongly. The programmes range over a wide variety of compositional styles. This is exemplified in certain items to be played by Robert Mingay-Smith at St Mary at Hill in his interesting series of recitals on Tuesday 4, 11, 18 and 25 September. The organ there is a sympathetic restoration by Mander of the original 1848 organ by William Hill. The recitals are entitled 'Baroque Greats 1 & 2', 'French Romantics' and 'Quintessentially British'. Of particular interest are the two contrasting Toccatas in F, one by J S Bach, with a challenging pedal part, the other being the ever-popular one by Widor. The four recitals promise to be a musical feast. It must be added that, as always, there are a significant number of organ recitals taking place in the City churches, the programmes at St Mary le Bow (4, 11, 18 & 25), St Lawrence Jewry (Tuesday 4, 11, 18 & 25) and St Michael Cornhill (Monday 3, 10, 17 & 24), and offering a variety of musical styles.

In preparing the listings for this month your editor could not help but notice a number of composers who seem to feature rarely in our listings. Some of these are now given: Guastavino, Koomans, Moszkowski, Barrios, Boshkiyov, Tansman, Lauro, Bonocini, Stanchinsky, Bédard, Vitols, Dārziņš and Ayo Bankole to name but a relative few. Readers may find it rewarding to track down those names in the listings with the strong possibility of musical appetites to be whetted.

On that subject the concert to be given at St Sepulchre without Newgate on Saturday 15 September by James Pearson might well more than suffice. Examination of the programme in the listings will show just how eclectic are the musical offerings to be experienced in the City churches.

Open House London will be taking place on Saturday 22 and Sunday 23 September providing the opportunity of free entry to many of London's best buildings and City churches will feature strongly. Full information concerning the buildings to be opened may be obtained from the website: <https://www.openhouselondon.org.uk/>

In this concise revue of some of the events your editor is all too aware how selective it is. Sadly space dictates that suffice to say the items referred to above are those which have again 'caught the eye'. The City churches continue to delight in many ways.
